Chris is a Senior Associate at FAB Group, Inc., a financial advisory services firm.

Professional experience

Chris joined FAB Group as a Senior Associate in April of 2009. FAB Group provides a wide range of litigation support services including litigation consulting, financial analysis, economic analysis, accounting and forensics, discovery assistance, document management services, arbitrator/mediator services, and expert testimony.

Prior to joining FAB Group, Chris has five years of consulting experience at Huron Consulting Group and FAB Advisory Services. Chris has served as a lead analyst on a significant number of litigation consulting matters. Chris' experience includes performing major damage analyses, designing damage models, performing market research, providing the results of economic studies, writing reports and managing sizeable databases.

Chris' experience spans several industries, including manufacturing, construction, pharmaceuticals and medical products, to name a few. While working on cases involving litigation, arbitration, mediation and investigation, the major types of cases Chris has experience with include patent infringement, business interruption, fraudulent conveyance, post acquisition disputes, and major breach of contract matters.
